

Staff raise funds by eating cake!

On Friday 29th September, staff at Barnsley Building Society joined in with the World's Biggest Coffee morning to raise vital funds for Macmillan nurses.

Staff joined in the activities baking cakes and serving coffees to their colleagues and customers throughout the morning.

The total amount raised on the day was £479.55 and will go towards the nurses funds.

Macmillan nurses are trained to work with patients and families suffering the effects of cancer and are funded by generous donations from the public and the coffee morning continues to be their flagship fundraiser.

World's Biggest Coffee Morning is one of the most successful one day fundraising events in the UK. Last year 2 million people had a coffee for Macmillan and helped to raise an astonishing £6.5 million!

Macmillan are hoping to collect even more money this year, which will allow them to reach even more people effected by cancer.
